

LAURENZ V. SINGING GRÜNER VELTLINER 2007

KAMPTAL, AUSTRIA

WHAT'S HOT: IMPORTS

BEST OF THE BEST

There's a running joke that if a sommelier offers you a taste of a mystery white wine, the answer is always grüner veltliner, such is their geeky fascination with this Austrian grape.

The arrival of these Laurenz V wines is a turning point for the variety in Australia, making a play into more accessible territory without compromising the essence of the variety.

Laurenz Moser has created three levels, backed by flippant names, simple packaging and fair pricing.

Singing is an easy-drinking blend, Friendly hones in on more detail and complexity, and Charming is the single-region Kamptal bottling.

Nick Stock

Gourmet Traveller WINE April-May 2008

